CULTURAL IMMERSION WORKSHOP 2014

The knowledge and mastery of other languages is an increasingly essential need in our country, since the ability to communicate in two or more languages –even rudimentarily- opens up opportunities for personal growth, employment, education and access to information, and contributes to the development of tolerance and understanding among people of different cultural backgrounds.

Since April 2014, the first Cultural Immersion workshop has been taking place at our institution. The project was designed by the Language department -English- (Gabriel Croce) and Extension Cultural department (Diego Espinosa), and it is addressed to students of 1st, 2nd and 3rd year of the different English levels provided by our institution.

An approach to the British culture (geography, history, politics, customs, folklore, gastronomy, among others) -in English/Spanish- is proposed. For this, a selection of audio-visual resources are used and organized by the teachers in charge, while at the same time, the English language is put into intensive practice.

The workshop intends to provide participants with an immersion in the English language beyond the school setting, allowing them to develop communicative skills in the target language and offering them the chance to share their own experience with youngsters from other countries. This activity, as well as being highly motivating, contributes to the students' personal development, promotes coexistence and complements their training.

This workshop aims to enhance students' learning needs and strengthen their communicative skills. It intends to help participants develop proficiency language levels in English, stimulating oral language, fostering bonds with other cultures, promoting curiosity about the expressive possibilities provided by the use of a foreign language and laying the essential foundation for subsequent learning and development in later stages of education.

Students are intended to acquire new knowledge and, at the same time, consolidate their previous one through motivating activities primarily based on the oral language skills.

We expect our students to be immersed in an experience in which the use of the language isn't an obstacle for them; but on the contrary, it should entail an everyday motivation, incentive and challenge.

As part of this workshop, and coinciding with our winter school break, a trip to Britain to UK was taken with a group of nine students, specifically to the city of Brighton where the participants attended an English course at the local university. The main aim of this trip was to face the unknown of a culture in order to get to understand that being in touch with a different lifestyle would help them enhance their actual vision of the world and increase their capacity of analysis and comprehension.

Take-off time!!

Brighton... a seaside town!

Brighton is located along the southern coast of England towards the east. To the east of Brighton lies Hastings and further east is Dover. It is better known as Brighton and Hove an amalgamation of Brighton and its neighbouring Hove. It is found in the county of East Sussex.

Brighton and Hove has a population of around a 150,000. The city is famous for its beaches amongst the crowds of people who flock here. It is the nearest and most accessible beach for Londoners. Pebble beach is perhaps the most famous but there are others including those for nudists. Brighton is known for its party scene and nightlife with a variety of discos, pubs and nightclubs found there.

Brighton is a buzzing city with lots of great attractions, both for the day and night so you will never need feel bored.

Some of Brighton's most important tourist attractions include the spectacular Royal Pavilion - without doubt one of the most beautiful and unusual landmarks in the Brighton, attracting almost 400,000 visitors each year; the world-famous Brighton Pier - formerly known as the Palace Pier, the fourth most visited leisure attraction in the United Kingdom; the Clock Tower - built in 1888 to celebrate the Golden Jubilee of Queen Victoria.

The popular Brighton Marina has become one of the largest yachting harbours in the United Kingdom and home to an enormous amount of entertainment facilities.

Brighton also has a number of excellent museums in the city centre. The most visited of these include the Brighton Museum and Art Gallery; the Museum of Penny Slot Machines; the Brighton Toy and Model Museum - with a fine collection of toys and models; the Booth Museum of Natural History; the Hove Museum and Art Gallery - full of important collections and interesting memorabilia.

Situated on the south coast of England, the climate in Brighton is generally slightly warmer than the rest of the United Kingdom. Brighton tends to have earlier springs, with warmer weather in the summer, combined with particularly mild winters. With excellent shopping facilities, impressive landmarks and numerous events and festivals, this is far more than a normal seaside resort and truly is an exciting city, well worth visiting.

Brighton student testimonials

We wanted all of our study abroad students to enjoy their time at the university in England. This is what some of our students have to say about their study abroad experience in Brighton.

Brighton is a beautiful place to study and stay. My study abroad experience at the University of Brighton was absolutely the best one. The teachers were amazingly fabulous, especially Celina.

My intention was to improve my English skills but it turned to be more than that. We learned about other cultures, and it was really exciting.

The experience I had in Brighton, like most experiences, really cannot be put into words. Brighton brought new perspective to the terms friendship, travel and adventure for me. I am very grateful for my time there.

I think this experience was amazing! Brighton is a fantastic place to study and live. I was in Brighton for two weeks and I enjoyed it very much. You can do many things there. It's a great place to learn English, meet a lot of new people and I really made new friends. The teachers were great and cool, especially Celina!

Brighton is a great city to visit. The place we stayed was really comfortable and clean. The stuff was kind and funny. We had a lot of fun with them. My lessons were perfect. I improved my English but also met some cool students from all over the world. Brighton has a very good way of life for young people. I am so grateful for my time there.

The time I spent in Brighton was great. I really enjoyed the experience. We met a lot of great people from all over the world. I made new friends. I was in Brighton for two weeks and I enjoyed it very much. I will always cherish my memories of Brighton.

Being at the University truly felt like a dream: it was exotic, always changing and unfortunately, just like a dream, it ended too fast for me. The classes were fun, inspiring, enjoyable, and very useful too: I improved my English a lot, I believe. I wish I could have stayed there for a longer time. Anyone who has the opportunity to do this sort of trip, should definitely do it.

Brighton is a brilliant place to study and live because it's got beautiful tourist attractions and the amazing seaside. Studying abroad has been a great experience, especially in Brighton. I had the pleasure of meeting some really nice people from all over the world.

I was in Brighton for two weeks and I enjoyed it very much. You can do many things there. If you like shopping or going out, you have many choices. There are also many activities for tourism so you can visit many places linked to the English culture. Brighton has a very good way of life for young people.

Studying in Brighton was something awesome and great. Meeting new people from different culture was incomparable. In many opportunities, we shared our customs with a lot of other boys and girls from all over the world. The teachers in the school were really kind, they were there for all of us. Brighton is a beautiful place to live, go on holidays and study.

British Study Center in Brighton

An unforgettable experience

During this trip I was able to learn about other cultures and visit different places. I visited beautiful and old buildings that showed me the way other people live. I was able to meet girls and boys from all over the world and understand their customs. Most of them didn't speak Spanish so I had to speak English most of the time and in that way I was able to improve the language.

The University of Brighton is situated on the south coast of England. During the mornings, we studied English, but in the afternoons we took part of different activities along with other students.

We went to the centre of Brighton several times so as to visit the beach, galleries, museums and we really enjoyed our time there.

On the weekends, we went to London (twice) and Oxford. There we had the chance to see amazing places like the London Eye, Buckingham Palace and the change of the guards, St. Paul's Cathedral, the Parliament, the British Museum, and some of us rode the hop on and hop off bus which took us around the city, being able to admire great views. The rest of the group went to see a West End musical (Michael Jackson's Thriller), being able to be in contact with one of the most important English art expressions.

When we finished our time Brighton, we toured around Cardiff, Stonehenge, Liverpool and Edinburgh. It was a great experience and I will cherish it forever.

Close encounter of the British kind

Our stay at Brighton University facilities was definitively the highlight of our trip.

In the morning, we had English classes. Every student was chosen according to his fluency in the language, and so every class had a varied mix of nationalities but everyone could communicate with people of the same level.

In the afternoon and evening we did a different activities every day, so we never got tired of doing that.

The first weekend we went on an excursion to the historical centre of Oxford. It was a great experience, but a more active experience was the one we made to London.

London was a really interesting city to visit, and very simple to traverse in, especially because of The Tube system. The metro felt like a sort of otherworldly dimension, where one walks through a timeless labyrinth, like cave.

London's other landmarks, like the Houses of Parliament and the Tower of London with its Bridge, were also part of the tour. We visited and explored the British Museum too, a very ominous and tiring experience, but a really satisfactory one as well.

Sadly, after two weeks we had to leave Brighton, but we left with many great and happy memories of our friends, both from school and from all over the world.

During the third and last week of our trip, we traveled all over Great Britain, visiting all three of its constituent countries. We went to Stonehenge, Bath, Cardiff, Liverpool and Edinburgh.

All in all, we had a great experience in the United Kingdom, and I hope that the groups that go in the following years have an awesome time too!

welcome to Oxford

Oxford, The City of Dreaming Spires, is famous the world over for its University and place in history. For over 800 years, it has been a home to royalty and scholars, and since the 9th century an established town, although people are known to have lived in the area for thousands of years.

Nowadays, the city is a bustling cosmopolitan town. Still with its ancient University, but home also to a growing hi-tech community. Many businesses are located in and around the town, whether on one of the Science and Business Parks or within one of a number of residential areas.

With its mix of ancient and modern, there is plenty for both the tourist and resident to do. Whether its visiting one of the many historic buildings, colleges or museums, going out for a drink or a meal, taking in a show or shopping till you drop, Oxford has it all. Whether you're visiting for business or pleasure you will find a wide range of hotels, guesthouses, apartments and self-catering accommodation.

A truly enriching experience!!

My trip to UK was one of the most beautiful experiences ever.

I was in Brighton for two weeks and I enjoyed every single day of my stay there. Brighton is a great place to learn English and I made new friends from other countries. There I learnt new perspectives. The weather was nice and the sea, the beach and the pier made my experience better. There are also many activities for tourism so we could visit many places like: Brighton Pier, the Royal Pavilion, Brighton Marina, etc. Brighton has a very good way of life for young people. I love the city! The teachers were absolutely fabulous and cool; there were teachers of other nationalities too.

On the first weekend, Saturday, we went to Oxford. There, we visited the famous University of Oxford. And, on Sunday, we went to London with our leaders: Gabriel and Diego. We visited St. Paul's Cathedral, we walked around London and went to the London Eye! On the second weekend in Brighton, we all went to London again. There we went to the theatre to see a musical called Thriller! It was fantastic! We danced along with the actors and the other people in the theatre.

During the third week, we were in different cities and places like: Stonehenge, Bath, Cardiff, Liverpool and Edinburgh. All of them were very beautiful. In Stonehenge, we enjoyed the sunny weather and saw the amazing rocks. That same day, we went to Bath and we visited the Roman Baths. In Cardiff, we walked around the Castle and we did some shopping as well! In Liverpool, we visited The Beatles Museum. It was amazing! In Edinburgh, we did an excursion with Manu, a tour guide from Spain. He taught us many things about Edinburgh.

I think I will come back to Brighton with my family, because I want to show them the city.

This trip enriched me a lot. I started this experience with unknown people and by the end of it we knew each other very well.

“The little one”

My name is Julia, I'm thirteen and I'm “the little one”. When I started the English Immersion workshop, I thought that I would trip alone, but when the journey started, I realised that the group was very cool.

When we see a person for the first time, we always judge him/her by his/her appearance but everything can turn out to be wrong. We did more than a trip. We formed a group. We got the chance to make new friends.

We stayed in Brighton during the first two weeks, a little city by the sea near London. There, we studied English at Brighton University and we slept in its campus. The accommodation was amazing and the rooms were really comfortable.

In our classes we learned about other cultures, we spoke to Italian, Russian, Polish, French and Turkish students, and people from other countries as well.

Then, we went to London twice and we saw a lot of monuments, like The London Eye, The Big Ben, The Parliament, etc. Then we saw a show called “Thriller” which was about Michael Jackson's life. It was amazing.

After Brighton, we went to Cardiff, Liverpool and Edinburgh. We also visited Bath, Stonehenge, Oxford and some other beautiful places.

In my opinion the best views were in Edinburgh but the best moments I had were in Brighton. I really enjoyed this experience, it was the first time abroad without my parents and it was really cool. We always helped each other and we did things that we had never done before, like ironing, cleaning, cooking, etc. It was a great experience. I would really love to repeat it.

Stonehenge is surely Britain's greatest national icon, symbolizing mystery, power and endurance. Its original purpose is unclear to us, but some have speculated that it was a temple made for the worship of ancient earth deities. It has been called an astronomical observatory for marking significant events on the prehistoric calendar. Others claim that it was a sacred site for the burial of high-ranking citizens from the societies of long ago.

A visit to Stonehenge is a unique experience!!!

AXELTOOH RE TURRÁÁÁÁSCA'S EXPERIENCE

I will tell you a little bit about my beautiful trip to UK. This experience was unforgettable because of the country and its culture. I really love them.

When we arrived at London airport, we couldn't see much but I felt an instant relief after leaving it. I really felt great. We travelled to Brighton in a van. In the van, there was a teacher from the university called Lara. When we arrived at the university I was surprised. We went to our rooms. They were all single rooms. We were really comfortable.

On our first day, we went to The Hub to have breakfast and then we went to the university (Mithras) on a yellow bus. When we arrived, we took a placement test and in my first break I met a lot of people from all over the world. These people gave off very good vibes, they were from Turkey, Russia, Italy, Spain, France, and some other countries.

We stayed at the university for long 2 weeks. These weeks were wonderful, because we did a lot of activities, took some short trips and had a beautiful experience.

Then, we (people from Argentina) toured around the UK. We went to Liverpool (1 day), Edinburgh (2 days) and Cardiff (2 days).

First we went to Cardiff and we stayed in a hotel. This hotel was incredible. We went to the Millennium Stadium and we saw strange people from Asia.

Next, we went to Liverpool in a van with a unexperienced driver. During this journey we stopped at an amazing shortstop, where we ate and relaxed for a few minutes. When we got to Liverpool, we went to the Beatles museum. I don't like so much The Beatles, but the museum was OK.

Finally, we went to Edinburgh, Scotland. This city was one of the most beautiful cities I've ever seen. There was a lot of fog around the city. It was divided into the new city and the old city. We went on a tour around the old city which was great.

On our last day, we left the hotel and drove to London's airport and we came back home. I enjoyed this trip a lot and I will never forget the country, the new people I met, my argentinian's friends and all about it.

I recommend this experience and I would love to do it again.

Culture crush

Let's mix nine Argentinians, a group of Italians, a French girl and a couple of Turkish and some Russians. Can you imagine what you get? Well, we couldn't. We actually hadn't thought about it till we got to Brighton and met these guys.

It would be normal for us to think that these boys and girls are really different from us, Argentinians. But as a matter of fact, they are much alike us. So much, that sometimes we spoke to them as we would speak to our own family.

My teacher, an Irish guy, was really cool. I think he is one of the best teachers I ever had. From the moment I met him I knew he would be unforgettable.

After two weeks studying in Brighton... we had to leave. Saying goodbye with tears in our eyes, we travelled for long hours to Stonehenge. It was awesome; a very relaxing place with an unbelievable story.

Then, we made a stop in Bath. A truly historic place.

We got to Cardiff after a long day's journey. The thing I most enjoyed about Cardiff was the castle. It was a huge and amazing one. We got to see incredible views from the top of a tower there.

But... my favourite place... was Edinburgh. A city full of tradition and curious facts. The weather there was perfect! I loved it. The architecture of the city was really beautiful. On our last day, we went on a tour around the city and we learned lot about Scottish people.

All in all... Great Britain is a country very different to Argentina. People who live there don't think, act and live like we do here. But I learned in this trip, that besides of the thousands kilometres between us, you can still feel like you are at home.

Welcome To
The city of history and culture, enterprise and leisure!

BATH

Bath is a city in Somerset, South West England, 156 km west of London and 21 km south-east of Bristol. In 2011, its population was 88,859. It became part of Avon in 1974; since Avon's abolition in 1996, it has been the principal centre of Bath and North East Somerset.

The city became a spa with the Latin name Aquae Sulis when the Romans built baths and a temple in the valley of the River Avon, although oral tradition suggests that the hot springs were known before then. It became popular as a spa town during the Georgian era, leaving a heritage of Georgian architecture crafted from Bath Stone.

Bath became a World Heritage Site in 1987. The city's theatres, museums and other cultural and sporting venues have helped to make it a major centre for tourism with more than one million staying visitors and 3.8 million day visitors to the city each year. The city has two universities and there are large service sector, information and communication technology and creative industries.

Santiago's corner

I really enjoyed this trip, it was amazing. When I arrived at the airport I thought: "I'm going to enjoy it at most". And that's what I did. After London's airport, we took a bus to Brighton where the staff there showed us our rooms.

The following day, we were taken to Brighton University and we had a placement test there.

We had classes everyday with amazing teachers and excellent partners. The best teacher was Diarmuid, an Irish man, who made us practice our speaking and listening skills with very funny games. Someday I'm going to write my book: "How to be a writer" and I'm going to dedicate it to him.

On our first Wednesday there, we went to Brighton centre specifically to the beach. Then, we went to the pier where we were able to ride a rollercoaster and at night we saw the Argentina-Netherlands match on the beach.

On the first weekend we went to Oxford. A beautiful place, old but really interesting. We stayed for another week in Brighton playing games and taking part of different activities. The following weekend, we went to London and saw the London Eye, the Big Ben and more amazing places; the best one was the London Eye from which we had a beautiful view of London.

Our two weeks at the university finished and our personal trip started. We got in a van driven by Mohamed. First of all we went to Stonehenge. I didn't like this place much. Then, we went to Bath an old famous place for its roman baths. The next step was Cardiff where we stayed for two days and for me it was the best place and I would love to visit it again. After it, we went to Liverpool where we only stayed for one night. We visited the Beatles museum and The Cavern. We left Liverpool and headed off to Edinburgh. I enjoyed it and I really liked the fog at night and the castle. Those last two days were really sad 'cause I didn't want to come back to Argentina. It was a superb experience and I want to repeat it.

Around the UK in three weeks

I got a crush on...

The UK 2014 experience was incredible and unforgettable. I had a very great time there with lots of new international friends. When I arrived to The Hub, In Brighton, I realised that living in a British University's Campus would be the most exciting thing that I would do in my life. And I wasn't wrong. Being in Brighton was awesome. There were people from all over the world. I made new friends whom I am still chatting with by Facebook or WhatsApp. The classes at the university were so didactic and funny. The teachers were great people and we had a great time all together. We met an Argentinian teacher, Lara, who was my teacher. I had a crush on a Russian girl. I enjoyed every moment with her. I really had a good time in Brighton. This experience was so cool! The true is that no word can explain my experience in Brighton.

During my stay in Brighton, I went to Oxford, Arundel Castle and London. Oxford is spectacular.

London! Well London is the capital city of England and the UK. Being in London was always my biggest dream and it came true. London is really impressive. All the buildings there are imposing and inspiring. I saw the Big Ben, the London Eye, the Tower Bridge, Marble Arch, Trafalgar Square, St. Paul's Cathedral, the House of Parliament and many other interesting places.

After Brighton we went to Cardiff, but we stopped in Stonehenge and then Bath.

After Bath, Cardiff. Cardiff is the capital city of Wales. The Castle there was amazing. From it you could see the Millennium Stadium, the official headquarters of the Welsh Rugby Union.

After being in Cardiff, we moved to Liverpool. Liverpool, home of the Beatles, is a very beautiful city. We were in The Cavern, where The Beatles played their first chords.

We left Liverpool and went straight to Edinburgh, Scotland. I got a crush on it. I could say that William Wallace is one of my idols. Edinburgh is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. I took a tour around the city with a Spanish guide who taught me a lot of things about Edinburgh.

Well my trip finished in Edinburgh. I wish I could go back and stay longer in London and Edinburgh. This experience was an unforgettable and singular one.

CARDIFF

The City of Cardiff is the largest city in Wales and it is the main commercial centre as well as the base for the National Assembly of Wales. Cardiff became a city way back in 1905 and was proclaimed the capital of Wales in 1955. All this development over recent years has seen Cardiff become a major tourist destination with around 19 million visitors a year pouring into the city and surrounding areas.

Cardiff Castle is built on the foundations of a Roman fort, later additions were made in Norman times, and the moat and keep still survive today.

Visitors to the castle today find a Neo Gothic Victorian mansion, created by the third Marquis of Bute.

The castle is opulent in the extreme, containing a mix of many different styles and periods. Each room with its own theme is lavishly decorated, with murals, carvings gilding and stained glass.

My experience in the UK

I was in Europe in 2012 and this year again; and I hope to go back someday. Personally, I think the most important thing I can say about this continent is that it's another world. Buildings, people, history... all different (including its good and bad things).

This trip was very important to me, not only because I was visiting new countries, but I would also be able to make new friends, improve my English by talking to other people, learn lots of things about the history of each place and have a very nice time with my friends.

Before leaving, I was a very shy person, because in my previous trips I didn't have to speak English at all. But after this experience I am not shy any longer, I speak English without any fear. This was one of my objectives for this trip and I achieved it.

Another thing that I liked about it was the people that I met from all over the world. Personally, I spoke to the Russians girls and boys a lot; they were really friendly, funny and excellent people. But there weren't only Russians, there were Italian boys, Turkish boys and girls, a Bulgarian guy and lots of more guys from other countries. So talking to them in English all the time was an excellent experience.

Also, it was a new experience for me travelling by myself, without family, because I had never done it before, so I was a bit scared. On the first two weeks I had to wake up by myself, order and wash my clothes, do my homework and make my bed all mornings. All alone, without my parents' help.

My favourite place was Edinburgh. Why Edinburgh and not London? Because, from my point of view, Edinburgh was much more beautiful than London. I liked the atmosphere, the views, the castle, but most of all, the old buildings that I saw during my stay there.

All in all, it was the best trip I've ever had. I would like to go back someday and repeat this experience.

Graduation day!!!

Congratulations on your achievement!

London is the capital of England and the United Kingdom. It is located on the river Thames in southern England.

London is also called City of Westminster and since centuries the most important city of the British island and home of the British monarchy.

Therefore, you can find many important buildings within this city, like: St. Paul's Cathedral, Big Ben (the tower of the Palace of Westminster), Westminster Cathedral, the Tower and, close by, the Tower Bridge, a famous sight and symbol of London. The residence of the monarchy is Buckingham Palace.

Apart from the buildings, London has also many parks and public places to see, such as the famous Hyde Park, Trafalgar Square and last but not least, Piccadilly Circus.

In the year 2000, London got another sight, the "London Eye", Europe's tallest Ferris Wheel.

Liverpool... land of The Beatles!

With its unique attractions, exciting events, world class sport offerings, unrivalled musical heritage and famously warm welcomes, Liverpool is the ideal destination to visit and explore.

With the largest collection of museums and galleries anywhere outside of the Capital, Liverpool's culture and heritage are at the very heart of the city.

EDINBURGH

Edinburgh is the capital city of Scotland, situated in Lothian on the southern shore of the Firth of Forth. It is the second most populous city in Scotland and the seventh most populous in the United Kingdom. The population in 2013 was 487,500.

Edinburgh has been recognised as the capital of Scotland since at least the 15th century, but political power moved south to London after the Union of the Crowns in 1603 and the Union of Parliaments in 1707.

Edinburgh is rich in associations with the past and has many historic buildings, including Edinburgh Castle, Holyrood Palace, the churches of St. Giles, Greyfriars and the Canongate, and an extensive Georgian New Town built in the 18th century. Edinburgh's Old Town and New Town are jointly listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The city has long been known abroad as a centre of education.

The city is also famous for the Edinburgh International Festival, which, since its inception in 1947, has grown – largely as a result of the "Fringe" and other associated events – into the biggest annual international arts festival in the world. In 2004 Edinburgh became the world's first UNESCO City of Literature, an accolade awarded in recognition of its literary heritage and lively literary activities in the present. The city's historical and cultural attractions, together with an annual calendar of events aimed primarily at the tourist market, have made it the second most popular tourist destination in the United Kingdom after London, attracting over one million overseas visitors each year.

All good things must come to an end...!!!!
